

Dr. Jordan S. Josephson, MD

Internationally renowned surgeon

Dr. Jordan S. Josephson is an celebrated and distinguished nasal and endoscopic sinus surgeon. He specializes in nasal cosmetics and functional nasal and sinus surgery. Dr. Josephson received his undergraduate degree in chemistry from the State University of New York at Albany with distinction.

His medical school training was obtained from the State University of New York at Downstate Medical School. Dr. Josephson completed his internship in general surgery and then a residency in Otolaryngology-Head and Neck Surgery at Long Island Jewish Hospital. He is board certified in his specialty.

Dr. Josephson completed a fellowship with Dr. David W. Kennedy in Nasal and Endoscopic Sinus Surgery at Johns Hopkins Medical Center in Baltimore. Dr. Josephson was the first fellowship trained endoscopic sinus and nasal surgeon in the United States. He was also an instructor on the faculty at the Johns Hopkins Medical Center. Presently Dr. Josephson is in private practice in Manhattan. His philosophy is to offer the highest quality of medical care to his patients through the latest in state-of-the-art technology.

Dr. Josephson was honored to be a consultant to the National Institutes of Health (NIH) in Bethesda, Maryland. This is the Federal Government's agency responsible for medical research. At the NIH, Dr. Josephson worked closely with the Chief-Clinical Otolaryngology-NIDCD-NIH. Together they were researching new techniques for nasal and facial cosmetic reconstruction in patients with special functional and cosmetic deformities of the nose and face.

Dr. Josephson has published and presented papers at meetings internationally. He has taught hundreds of physicians the technique of endoscopic sinus surgery. He has been invited as an honorary guest lecturer around the world. He has written, published and presented papers at meetings internationally. His textbooks and chapters on the subject of endoscopic sinus surgery and facial cosmetic surgery have been published in many languages and are known around the world. He was an invited spokesman for the Lifetime Medical Television program on sinusitis with Dr. Roger Boles. He has been featured as an expert on various news segments on CBS, NBC, FOX and NY One. Dr. Josephson was an active appointee to Rhinology and Paranasal Sinus committee of the American Academy of Otolaryngology and Head and Neck Surgery, the committee formed to set the standards for nasal and sinus surgery in the United States.